ORDER

In an Order dated May 16, 2008, the Court ordered the Attorney General to return Defendant to the custody of the United States Marshal for transport to Albany, New York. The United States Marshal has informed the Court that Defendant is now in Albany, New York. In light of counsels' agreement that, based upon the medical evaluations that Defendant does not present a danger to herself or others, there is no need to hold a hearing to determine whether Defendant's release would "create a substantial risk of bodily injury to another person or serious damage to property of another," 18 U.S.C. § 4246(e), the Court hereby

ORDERS that the United States Marshal shall release Defendant from custody as soon as possible after he receives this Order; and the Court further

ORDERS that Defendant is subject to the following conditions of release: (1) Defendant shall appear at all proceedings as the Court directs; (2) Defendant shall restrict her travel to the Northern District of New York unless she receives prior approval from the Court for travel outside the Northern District of New York; and (3) Defendant shall refrain from possessing a firearm, destructive device, or other dangerous weapon; and the Court further ORDERS that the United States Marshal shall provide a copy of this Order to Defendant at the time that he releases her from custody.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
